Dombind seized: Centre Hastings uses calcium on roads

by W. Brice McVicar

The dust is finally settling over whether Centre Hastings' roads will be treated with Dombind or calcium chloride this sum-

Road Foreman Jim Wilson attended council April 28th and simply told council, "I've been checking these roads and it's going to take more calcium than we thought.

At the previous council meeting on March 31st Wilson had asked council what dust suppressant they wanted used this year and he was instructed to get some prices on calcium chloride per load so council could do some comparing Council decided on the calcium chloride

Reeve Tom Deline said the decision was made for them when they heard Stir-ling-Rawdon Township had sent a truck down to get a load of Dombind and were told they couldn't have it.

'We just can't get it, said Deline

Wilson explained to council he had done 19,020 metres of a local road with the calcium and it had cost approximately $2900. Council asked how ma kilometres Wilson could do with a load of calcium and he told them "about 14 or 15 kilometres

Reeve Deline, looking at Reeve Deline, looking at the number of kilometres of dirt roads, said, "You're looking at $29,000 to $30,000 for the year."

Treasurer Bonnie Jones informed council they had "only spent $10,000 last year."

Council asked Jones how much money was in the budget and she stated they had $60,000 but that in-cludes gravel and filling pot

Reeve Deline ton. Wilson, able to get away with one application." Deline also noted not all roads will be done completely, except the highly travelled roads. Most roads will receive calcium only near houses where the dust would be more of a dust would be more of a nuisance. However, there are still strict guidelines to applying calcium, much like Dombind, and Deline stressed that those guide lines be followed. Deputy Reeve Walton Reid asked if the Dombind was still seized and if coun-cil would be able to get any? Deline told him it was still seized and, as far as he know, they could not? "Well, it'll help the car calce Reid said with a chuckle.

Two residents from the Jones Road were in attendance of the meeting and asked council how soon their road would be done?

Council informed them they expected the Jones Road to be done by Friday the 30th of April and pointed out they could only lay the calcium on one hundred feet on either side of their home Deline suggested that Jim Wilson be instructed to spray the road with water to keep the dust down until it could have the calcium ap-

The couple noted that their road receives a lot of traffic and were wondering if council had plans to pave

"To talk about anything permanent for that road you're looking at anywhere in the vicinity of five years,' Reeve Deline stated. Deline also noted that while the road is on council's per-sonal ideas of work to be done they are waiting for their work needs study to come back to pin-point immediate problem areas.

'I'd prefer, the lady in-formed council, 'if you didn't grade it, leave the pot It may slow them down a little

Another Centre Hastings resident, Brian Thompson from Sills Road, attended council with a request con-cerning dust suppressants. Thompson wanted to know if council would possibly spread the calcium chloride on the road beside his wheat fields to prevent dust from blowing onto his crop.

Thompson informed council he was worried if something wasn't put on the road his crops would be damaged. He said he would like it if council could "coat the whole road" and would prefer Dombind to the calcium. When council asked him how much area he esti-mated would have to be done he stated approxi-Continued on page 12

Council takes a look at garbage on the streets

by W. Brice McVicar

At their April 28th meet-ing Centre Hastings coun-cil expressed some concerns the number of hours the public works crew have spent picking up garbage.

During the Foreman's:

Report session of the meeting council asked Roads

Superintendent Tom Piszczek why they had 139 hours listed for garbage pick-up. Piszczek informed coun cil they had been picking up litter along the roads mostly in front of the schools and along Baldwin Street.

along Baldwin Street.
Reeve Tom Deline, wanting to know what type of litter it was, asked, "What is it mainly?" "Just normal garbage." Piszczek stated.
He said it mainly consisted of pop bottles, chip bags and other assorted trash.

Reeve Deline wanted to know if students from the high school and the public school were going to the store and just throwing their trash on the streets as they walked back. When he was told that is what is suspected to be happening he said if the problem persists coun-cil should be informed.

Deline also commented that maybe the schools should be contacted and ask if they could make an announcement asking students to put their trash in garbage cans.

"It costs everybody to have us get someone to pick it up," he commented.

When Councillor Schulz asked if the students could be made to pick it up Reeve Deline chuckled, told him it was a good idea but asked how council would ensure Deputy Reeve Walton Reid also suggested having the kids pick it up but Coun-cillor Larry Mitz said, "We have to leave it to them (the schools).

"Aloha readers' Many stu dents from CHSS were enchanted on Friday, April 30th It was a night we will soon not forget. It was a very authentic Hawaiian dance put on by the student council and Much Music All students were given an official Hawaiian greeting and received a colourful leis around their necks. Outside, in the courtyard, student council members were selling "mocktails" inside a grass hut. It was a beautiful evening and the decorating job was fantastic. Earlier in the evening, CHSS invited grade eight s who will be attending CHSS next year to the same dance. Busing was provided for the students and they had no doubts at the end of the evening that CHSS is the place to

Well, it finally arrived a After much work and dedication, the annual Spring Concert was a big success Since all three bands received gold status in the Quinte Rotary Festival, they wowed the audience with their extreme talent. The concert on May 6th consisted of the senior and junior concert bands, the jazz band, the jazz vocal ensem-ble and a few small ensem-bles. A slide show of their recent trip to Chicago was also presented during the concert. CHSS' Music department proved once again to be absolutely fabulous! In Track and Field last Saturday at Centennial High School 600 athletes competed. Second place finishes were Erica Brown, Pat Foran and Justin MacArthur Third place finishes were Mike Sunder-land and Jenna Duguid. Congratulations to Erica Brown who placed first in 80 metre hurdles.

In rugby last week the juniors played Nicholson and won and the seniors played after the junior game and were defeated.

On June 1st the Elemen tary Schools in the area will have the chance to view the musical production of Babes in Arms' Tickets are being sold for $2 and busing will be provided.

Seven counts of vandalism in village

Madoe O.P.P. are investigating seven counts of vandalism in the Village of Madoc. During the evening hours of April 28th unknown persons attended the Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc and spray painted obscene graffiti on a wall, the Madoc Public School and five other businesses were also targeted. Police have some leads in the investigation and are following them up. Anyone having any knowledge of these offenses are asked to call the Madoc O.P.P. or Crime Stoppers. The caller does not have to identify themselves.

Heart Health Hastings/Prince Edward gets active about inactivity

The School Working Group of Heart Health Hast-ings/Prince Edward Edward on April 20th whose aim is to get all elementary school students more active

The Working Group, which consists of partners from Hastings and Prince Edward District School Board, Algonquin, and Lakeshore Catholic District School Board, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit, and Tweed and District Community Health Centre, has been working together to develop Quality Daily Physical Education (ODPF) kits, Each of the 76 elementary, schools under the Heart Health jurisdiction will receive at least one QDPE kit containing a large amount of equipment and a resource package describ ing activities and possible settings for QDPE. The purpose of the kit is to help teachers implement ODPE in their schools. QDPE refers to a planned program of instruction and physical activity for all learners on a daily basis throughout the entire school year

We know that there are barriers within the schools that prevent students from being involved in ODPE such as limited space, challenges of implementing new curricula. limited opportunities for teacher training and lack of adequate resource materials and equipment. We also know that generally our children and youth are not active enough to receive health benefits. The QDPE kit and resource package that our Working Group is intple-menting attempts to deal with these issues," said Marg Thompson, an elementary school teacher and member of the Working Group.

The School Working Group recognizes that physical activity is extremely important for the health of children and youth. The benefits of physical activity include the maintenance of a healthy weight, reduced stress and anxiety. reduced risk of heart disease and other chronic diseases, and an enhanced selfimage and academic performance, as well as many others. For children and youth to receive these health benefits it is recommended that they do medium effort activities for at least a total of 30 minutes most days of the week, preferably every day. Some of the moderate activities are aerobic (activities that raise your pulse rate and make you feel warm and slightly out of breath), some improve flexibility (activities that make voureach, bend and stretch) and some build strength (activities that build stronger muscles and bones). Examples of these activities are fast walking, biking, swimming, yoga, jive dancing, aerobic classes and much

by W. Brice McVicar

So, would you like to hear about who I'm sleeping with? My drug/alcohol addiction? My first homosexual experience?

Well, you must be from a rare breed seeing that it seems everyone under the sun has recently come out with a "tell all" book. I was watching the tube the other night and I guess some guy is coming out with a book about his sexual experiences with Princess Diana. I'm not sure if we're talking about her before Charles or after but, in total honesty, I couldn't care less. What a society we've turned into! Everybody's bedroom is suddenly public property and we can quite easily find out who's doing who and what their preferences are and the whole shabang. I mean, do we really care about these things?

I understand why people enjoy reading biographies and auto-biographies and historical accounts and things like that but not these sleazy, revealing, all-out-details books that seem to be littering shelves eveywhere. I myself have read different biographies about individals I find interesting but never one of these glorified National Enquirer spin offs.

I'm quite sure the book recently published by Monica Lewinsky (remember her?) has been purchased more for the scenes including her, Bill Clinton and the Oval Office than for pure interest in the woman's history. People only seem to truly care when there's a promise of sex. lies, black-mail or anything shady and immoral. Mother Teresa's biography prob-ably doesn't sell out as fast as one of these pornographic novels

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor, * This letter is regarding Frank J. Gourley's letter about the amount of garbage that litters our streets am a student at CHSS and have been for four years and, yes, I do agree that there is a lot of garbage, but to totally blame the students of the high school is ridiculous. Just because some students throw garbage on the street, that does not classify us all as letterers

This dubious distinction that you have bestowed on the students of CHSS is not just an adolescent problem Last week in a newspaper it was reported that a Madoc area man was charged for illegally dumping garbage. This person is not a mem-ber of CHSS!

As well, the broken desks and glass that you describe as being scattered about the school grounds were actu-ally in a fenced in area wait-

When you made these comments you made the students and staff feel like the very garbage that you say litters our streets

Have you ever noticed in the first of the year there is litter strewn everywhere. not just in Madoc? It's all a part of the spring clean up. How would you feel if we came to your house and found garbage on the street or in your lawn and totally blamed you for its being there?

Yes, littering is wrong, but can you honestly say to us that you have never littered once in you life, and if so "people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw

Venture Van plays a key role

Hello everyone! How would you like to wake up in the morning knowing it could be difficult to make normal trips around town. Going to doctor offices, hospitals, churches, libraries, jobs, workshops, shopping, going to see a play, getting involved in recreation, etc. is a major hurdle. . That's why it's a great feeling knowing that, with the Venture Van operating, disabled people and seniors can get on with their lives. The Venture Van now has about 225 riders, covering Warkworth, Hastings, Percy Township, Seymour Town-ship and Campbellford. The new van has room for four wheelchairs and nine ambu-

Rugby craze takes hold at Norwood High

Knights take "B" crown in Bancroft

By Chris VanWill

Asphodel-Norwood -The latest craze to hit Norwood High School?

Rugby!
Starting in the middle of April, teachers Mike Burke and Mike Sherwin asked all the boys at the school if they would be interested in playing rugby. For this season the team would not be involved in the high school league but would play exhibition games against some of the teams while learning to play the game and enhancing their skills.

The response has been enormous.

So with the assistance Frank Godfrey of the Peter-borough Pagans (Peterborough's rugby team) and former students Rob Bidgood, Dave Donald and Clayton Heffernan, all members of Sir Sandford Fleming College's team, NDHS was set to take on the challenge.

With close to 60 players signing up and many coming out to practice regularly four nights a week, Norwood was quickly learning the game. After only a week of practices, NDHS started to compete.

So far, the Norwood Knights rugby squad has competed against Kenner, Lakefield and PCVS.
When Norwood faced

When Norwood faced Kenner, both teams prevailed as the juniors won 10-5 and the seniors won 10-5 and the seniors won the seniors won the seniors were turned in by Jeff Bidgood, who scored two tries (similar to a touchdown in football) in the junior game, and Kevin Jones who barrelled his way in for a try in the senior game.

At Lakefield, the juniors

At Lakefield, the juniors won easily defeating the opponents 47-0. Ryan Deline and Kenny VanAllen were the workhorses scoring several times. The senior squad had a tough time and had tough officiating throughout the match. Overall they put up a hard fight but lost 12-0.

When PCVS came to town the seniors got back in the win column with a 10-0 win while the juniors consisted of teams that had

On April 30 the juniors travelled to Bancroft to compete in a tournament. The teams were divided into two played previously this season while the "B" side consisted of teams that were first-year, schools.

Norwood was on the "B" side and their first match was against Centre Hastings from Madoc who they defeated 5-0. In their second game, the Knights play St. Theresa's of Belleville and won 8-3.

and won 8-3.

By winning both games the Knights took the "B" title

The coaches are very impressed with the intensity and enthusiasm of all the players. With a 5-1 record, Norwood hopes for continued success in the weeks to

Tales from Shiloh Farm

by Chris Bertelsen

I don't know about you but I am fed up to here with elected politicians playing havoc with my life and that of my community. Where can we turn?

I have voted for every party except the Commu-nist and Rhinoceros party. We probably would have gotten as good a performance from the Rhinos as we have had from the existing major parties all of whom have betrayed us by breaking major promises and carrying on with squandering our money and fattening the troughs of corporations and patronage appointments. We know an election is coming when the parties especially the one in power starts throwing promises of money around. The worst is the propaganda put out by some using our own mondy. The sad thing is that people fall for this kind of stuff. How else do you explain the re-election three times of Brian Mulroney, the most reviled of all Prime Ministers in our history? Both he and Mike Harris claimed they had a mandate to break promises and wreak havoc with our lives because they had won the most seats However, both were elected with less than 50% of the popular vote. How can you claim the right to make major changes to the very fabric of our society when most of the population voted against you? This is what is fundamentally wrong with our current method of democracy: We need true representation by popular vote.

If we could model ourselves after the method of administration and decision making used by members of the Bahai religious com-munity we would have ch more compassionate and just society. There are no election campaigns and no nominations. Every registered member writes down the name of the person who in their estimation would best serve them and the unity. The nine members who end up with the most votes forms The Local Spiritual Assembly There are currently well over 300 assemblies in Canada, Belleville and Stirling being the nearest two. Delegates to the National Assembly similarly elect the nine members to form The National House of Justice. These, in turn, elect the nine members of the Universal House of Justice located in Israel. All decisions on mat-ters pertaining to administra-tion, problem solving, and for-mulations of new laws for the times are arrived at after a period of prayer, consultation and voting. The system virtually guarantees against disunity, corruption, and power grabs by individuals. The hallmarks of the Bahai Religion are Justice and Equality for all. Because of its proven success, this method is at this very moment being studied and adopted by many secular bod-

Council decided they would send a letter to Centre Hastings Secondary School and Madoc Public School asking that the stu-dents properly dispose of their garbage

In other road news Reeve Deline did state he "had a lot of excellent comments about the streets being swept earlier this year

Road Superintendent Piszczek commented there was a great deal of sand on the streets in the village this year and was hoping coun-cil would tell him to use more salt this winter as opposed to the sand.

While Reeve Deline

agreed they seemed to use a lot of sand he also said if they use mainly salt they'll be getting calls from the Ontario Provincial Police telling them certain places are slippery and they'll have to use sand

"I know, "stated Deline, "I have heard concerns from council about the high cost of spring clean up.

Madoc Martial Arts Club news

As the season starts to wind down, students are preparing for final tests in Karate and Jiu Jitsu. These tests will take place on May 17th and May 31st. Belt and stripe presentations are ed for June 14th followed by the year-end pizza party on June 21st. It's been an exciting year, particu-larly in the children's class where self defence skills and strong discipline were re-peatedly drilled.

Congratulations to the following members of the children's class who have recently won Leadership awards: Yoka Schonberger, Courtney Cassidy, Brandon Wilson, Richard Rioux, Jessica Shepherd, Jimmy Rodgers and Ian Chapman.

Some recent news from the club: Club instructor Robert Walther was pro moted to sixth degree black belt in Jiu Jitsu following Canadian Jiu Jitsu Council exams on April 25th in To-ronto...club black belts have begun work on a rarely seen two person set from Lost Track Kung Fu. It's a fastpaced, exciting set with lots of kicks, evasions and joint locks. There's a point where one partner lowers his body forward while the other kicks high over his head The first partner circles back up and mounts a series of attacks which the second partner blocks. At high speed, timing is critical. The movements have to be precise and effective. Local Tai Chi instructor Greg Magwood recently ran a sen nar on a South Indian martial arts in Kingston, Ontario Magwood is also conducting Tai Chi and Chi Kung seminars in Port Hope mented Thompson.

Deputy Reeve Reid said, "I know the phone Il be jin-damage if we don't do something about the dust," stated Councillor Larry

"Would you be willing to pay a small amount?" Treasurer Jones asked Thompson. With the estimated material cost for doing that extra stretch of the road at $56 Thompson said he'd have no problem paying for the service.

"It's worth it to me," Thompson stated. "I'd rather pay for it than not have something done."

With Thompson's request Clerk Doug Parks asked council if this is something they would be willing to do for other area residents. It was pointed out it would not be right to do it for one individual and not make it an option for others.

Reeve Deline said he had no objections to making it an option as long as they are asked before the residents' road is done so they don't have to go back to a road that has already received the dust suppressant

'If people are willing to pay for the cost," Reeve Deline said. "Basically, no we're not going back over roads but, if there's enough demand after we've done the roads we'll go back.

ouncil gets an overview of The Eldorado Project

by W. Brice McVicar

At the April 28th Centre Hastings council meeting council was informed of what was taking place with The Eldorado Project by its General Manager Bob Bredberg.

Bredberg told council he had attended the meeting simply to let them know what was happening "up in Bredberg said there is still a lot of work that has to take place at the site and they are currently looking into having more environ-mental studies done.

The project, which in-volves building a "frontier gold rush town" in Eldorado, is slated to see construction begin in October with the town hopefully being complete and up and running by the summer of 2000

This will be our own version of what may have been there in 1867," explained Bredberg. "We are going to build a frontier gold rush town like Dawson City. One hotel or saloon was built a week in Eldorado and 10,000 people flocked to the area after gold." He noted he could not find any photographs of Eldorado from that period so they were not going to claim that the site would be exactly the same as the town was at

It's the town that time forgot

Bob Bredberg, General Manager

"I have been following Bob's project for about a year," said Reeve Tom Deline before stating that he would like Centre Hast-ings council to go on record as supporters of Bredberg's project.

Working with a budget of approximately $45 million Bredberg told council he would be hiring the first

50 of about 700 employees

within six weeks.

Seventy-five percent of the traffic heading into the pioneer town, Bredberg explained to council, is expected to be travelling on Highway 62 north from Belleville so "people should realize traffic will increase."

Bredberg noted he has been in contact with the Ministry of Transportation about this traffic pattern change. "Part of our objec-five is to avoid overloading Highway 62," he said. He also said the MTO hopes to open Highway 62 up to a four lane highway to possialleviate any traffic problems

Brodberg said they want to bring people into the Centre Hastings area and keep them here and he believes the pioneer town, along with the Heritage Trail, could do that.

There are plans for a 36 room hotel and approximately 60 cabins on the property but Bredberg feels there will still have to be more hotels in the area to accommodate people.

"Once we're booked up where are we going to send people?" Bredberg asked. Reeve Tom Deline assured him if things became that busy there would be an increase in the number of hotels in the region.

Sports to report? Give us a call!

I went to the ATM the other day to take some money out. After I got my noney I looked at that little receipt you get to see I was missing approximately ten dollars. I walked over to the other ATM, the one that you use to print a record of all your previous banking arrangements, to see where my hard-worked for money

Can you guess where it ended up?

If you said in the bank you're right! My bank took almost ten dollars out of my account for my "monthly fee". This fee supposedly includes all the times I used the ATM, telephone bank-ing and all those other ridiculous charges some guy in the "corporate office" came up with. I swear somewhere trying to find new ways to screw the little guy.

My question is, what am I paying for? I pay some crazy amount like $1.25 every time I use an automated banking machine that complete the state of the sta doesn't bear my bank's logo! Why?

How much money did the banks make last year? Somewhere in the region of a zillion dollars? When I say a zillion dollars I hope each and every one of you realize that's our money! If it weren't for us these banks wouldn't have a red cent!

Anyway, back to my initial rant, we're paying all these stupid fees and most banks are decreasing their service! It's true! I was in a bank the other day and I was told they no longer have any tellers open after 3 p.m. but they remain open until 4... Huh? Where's the point in that? Basically you can walk into the bank to be told they're still open but they can't help you unless you want to use the ATM.

This isn't a big deal to me service wise because it's far and few occasions between when I actually talk to a real person at the bank, I always use the machine. However, a great deal of older people do not have Interac cards and depend on there being a person to deal with them at the bank. Not only that but how many people are off work in time to talk with a teller be p.m.? Not too many. Maybe this is a perfect example of "downsizing" and "money-saving" but I find it ridicu-with right away? Will they deal with you or are you going to have to wait for the

Let's face it, with inter-est rates where they are now and the amount of fees and charges you're required to pay you can't help but start to think you might be better off keeping your cash under your mattress. Sure it's not quite as secure but it might get rid of lumpy sec-tion near your back.

I guess what I'm trying to say is it's pretty sad when you're paying such huge fees for every little transaction you make and banks are making great revenue and they start limiting their service. Hey, look at it this way, because there's less e with the tellers you're going to have to go to the ATM and pay that $1 or $1.25 charge to pay the sal-ary for that shark in the suit who decided to cut bank operating hours...

Protect your child-be sun smart

May 17th to 23rd is Sun Awareness Week. This year, the Canadian Cancer Society focuses its message on parents and caregivers of young children, emphasizing their role in ensuring that children are practising sun safe behaviours whenever possible

More than 67,000 Canadians developed skin can-cer in 1998. Skin cancer occurs frequently, but it is usually treated successfully without requiring hospitali zation. However, a small percentage of the above cases include melanoma of the skin. It is estimated that in 1998, about 740 Canadians will have died from melanoma of the skin. which is almost always curable if treated early

Children are especially vulnerable to the sun's exposure. One blistering sunburn before the age of 18 can double a child's risk of developing skin cancer later in life. This is especially important for parents and caregivers of young children to be aware of during the summer months, be-cause of the amount of time the children spend playing outdoors. Adults should ensure that both they and the children they are caring for avoid the sun between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. They should seek shade while enjoying activities outside, or, if no shade is available. create their own with umbrellas or an awning. Babies under one year of age should always be kept out of direct sun.

During the summer children also spend a lot of time in or around water. Water reflects only a small amount of ultraviolet light, the rest can penetrate below the water's surface. People swimming or playing in water absorb nearly as much ultraviolet radiation as those on land nearby. Therefore children playing in or near water need to have their sunscreen reapplied often, and they need to wear a broad-brimmed hat to protect their face, neck and ears.

The Canadian Cancer Society urges all parents and caregivers of young children to be sun smart and follow the SunSense guidelines - Slip! Slap! Slop!

-Slip on a shirt -Slap on a hat

-Slop on sunscreen For more information about skin cancer or sunprotection, call the Canadian Cancer Society's tollfree Cancer Information Service at 1-888-939-3333.

Stirling and District Horticultural Society news

Many of us share Carrol ements' 'confession' Clements' hat she is not a gardener. so, when flowers and veggies don't grow as expected, plant one of her gar-den accents instead. Carrol has an array of sturdy vegetable markers and smallanimal and human characters expressing waggish epigrams. All are guaran-teed to attract attention and to cause as much amusement as her informative presentation. Carrol's gar-den accent creations are well crafted from wood, hand painted and finished and are sturdy enough to withstand many seasons of Garden accents have developed into quite a business over the past few years and range from marble statu-ary to old junk (or should that be "junque", since it has been moved upscale a tad?), sometimes referred to as "found art". For example, a trellis can be made from four crutches or turn them upside down, tie the four tips together and now you have a modified obelisk. In keeping with the reduce, re-use, recycle mantra and the Ontario Horticultural Association's exhortation to beautify, look for the "art" at yard sales, that corner in the basement or the woodshed, the local dump or landfill site to some Old tools, tractor or truck parts, a pedestal sink, drift-wood can all be utilized in some way to provide a static focal point. Pick up a dis-carded toilet and tank (sans lid) and fill them with flowers. An outgrown children's wading pool makes a fine cactus garden container. Remember that anything that can hold soil can hold plants; containers are great and can be moved around, displayed singularly or in groups, but be sure to assess how heavy the container will be when filled.

Gotthatdiggin', plantin', waterin', weedin', movin', at the top of Oak Hill. Carrol's presentation was preceded by a demonstration of transplanting techniques by Lois Bennett, a follow-on of last month's seeding demonstration. Glenn Bennett judges the sixteen entries in the Mini Show and the Show Off. The "Spring is Busting Out" theme resulted in displays of branches of shrubs and trees in various stages of early growth as well as bouquets of early spring flow-ers, all of them considered well done

Ready for battle: The Blue and the Grey are ready to stake out their precious territory at Norwood District High School May 28-29 when more than 100 students from three high schools and 40 members of the American Civil War Re-enactment Society stage the three great battles of Gettsyburg. The American Civil War had a significant impact on 19th century Canadian history. In fact, upwards of 50,000 British North Americans fought in this bloodiest of wars and suffered as many as 7,000 casualties. Students taking part in the three-day event will learn more about the Civil War and pre and ante-belling society through a number of workshops. They will also compete in an exciting drill competition and do their best Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh imitations during an elegantevening ball. Stay tuned for more on this heralded event. Dealing with the effects of polio

(Submitted by Anne-Marie Bovair)

My position as chairper son of the Post-Polio Sur port Group has given me a great deal of pleasure in-forming and encouraging people who are dealing with the after effects of polio. It has taught me how to help myself.

On a daily basis we are all reminded of our bodies' limitations and needs. There are times we feel strong, health and full of energy, ready and able to take on new challenges and other times we hit the "polio wall."

Feelings of fear, anger, bitterness, shame and despair are common when coping with adversity. It, is okay to grieve our losses due to polio. We can take courage and feel proud to be called "survivors," to value ourselves and our accomplishments.

A healthy lifestyle can make a difference in how we deal with the late effects of polio. Eating right, exercis-ing (swimming, Tai Chi, yoga) and having a positive atti-tude will help us improve our quality of life and deal more effectively with our daily chôre

I have joined the "Pace Yourself Club" and have changed lanes to live in the lane by focusing on one task at a time. Learning "no" to the how to say "no" to the demands of others and my self is an important part of my determination to deal with my present condition.

I am learning to rid my life of stress, to soothe my self by practising deep breathing. Closing my eyes and breathing deeply through my nose. Holding my breath a count of three then exhaling slowly through my mouth. I repeat this until I feel calm

I try to open my heart and mind by practising meditation. Being still and meditating. Making the sound "QM" over and over again to clear my thoughts. I may say something like "God is

The project was made possible by a $60,000 grant announced recently by the provincial government to reduce homelessness in the 'Homelessness is an often hidden problem in our society, particularly in rural areas," said Dr. Doug Galt, MPP for Northumberland. "We hope these funds will be used to provide such things as shelter locating services and early intervention programs to help people and becoming homeless in the first place.

County Social Services Director Wendy White notes several community agencies indicated strong interest at the meeting in making proposals."We will be reviewing these proposals closely to ensure the funds are used to the best advantage of people who are either homeless or at risk of being homeless in the future," she noted.

Warden George McCleary said he is very pleased the Department of social Services and interested parties are working together to develop a plan to ddress the issue of home: lessness, while also working toward breaking the cycle of poverty. "The funding provided by the province will be really helpful in achieving these goals.

The Department of So cial Services has requested that interested parties put a proposal in writing that iden tifies how the allocated monies will be utilized. The following needs should be con-sidered when drafting a proposal: * moving people from the streets to emergency accommodation;

* moving people from emergency to permanent accommodation:

preventing homeless by supporting the retention of permanent hous-

Interested agencies should submit a proposal by May 25th.

Let gravel road residents decide dust suppressant

 According to reports.
 Percy Township council definitely is between a rock and hard place in regard to Dombind. The decision to use the government's grade period to continue spraying black liquor for another year will be followed by another,

What will be there afterwards? It's an either or de cision which has been con veniently pushed aside. In-teresting is the result of the vote, council members living on paved roads in fayour, while those on gravel roads are opposed. Is there a conflict of interest?

On request, some resi-dents receive calcium chloride at a cost of $10,600 to avoid Dombind

Dombind is seen as a nui sance and, as I found out. most residents would rather live with the dust.

The long list of approved dust suppressants consist mostly of mineral oil based products. Calcium chloride is on the list, although, as a salt, it is not exactly environmentally friendly. I believe the high cost is ruling out the entire list. It's not very reassuring that only the high cost is the primary drawback to calcium chloride.

The dust seems to be the bigger evil, the condition of the road becoming second ary. A bad road slows traffic automatically. Let the people living on gravel-roads decide by a mail-in or drop-off ballot. I will volunteer my services to assist the township administration to produce and distribute the ballots.

Regarding the proposed opening of a defibrillator account Hearned that some people would prefer to have the Jaws of Life instead. After speaking to the Norwood Fire Chief and Campbellford ambulance personnel. I be-lieve a defibrillator has pri-

Another busy month for Bemersyde IODE

On April 15th, the Regent opened the Bemersyde Chapter IODE meeting at Jenkin's Hall of Christ Church. She welcomed everyone, noting April birthdays, anniversaries and years

The Regent then intro-duced guest speaker Stephanic Martin of Graham Florists. She demonstrated how to make an attractive floral arrangement in a bowl, quickly building alovely dis-

Minutes of the March meeting were approved as read. Roll Call found 20 members and one guest were present. In Correspondence, announcements of two events were read: (1) the sod turning ceremony for the new Health Centre at Campbellford Memorial Hospital; and (2) the 40th Harmony Hour luncheon of the Lady Hughes Chapter at the Academy Theatre in Lindsay. The Treasurer's Report was given. Acceptance of the report and payment of bills was approved. In education, Ruth Hamilton read a letter from the Northumberland Music Festival. The final concert was scheduled for May 9th at Trinity Church, Cobourg. In Communications.

Chris Whitfield noted the report for the March meeting had been submitted to the newspapers and that she received an information package from Provincial headquarters. Services Of-ficer Teresa Shaw shoved the members some lovely knitted items, including a beautiful layette set.

Membership officer Dorothy Locklin reported that the proposed bridge les-sons have been cancelled for this year. Dorothy read a letter she received from the Valedictorian at the CDHS graduation exercises, now attending Waterloo Univer-sity, she also indicated we had a request for a September coffee party.

Hospitality convenor Marilyn Exton reported she had purchased tablecloths. The Board to Read programme received several It's Different This Time!

WE'RE USING A NEW WAY TO PREPARE THE VOTERS LIST FOR THIS ELECTION.

It's called the Permanent Register of Electors for Ontario and it means that most Ontario residents won't have enumerators knocking at their door this time:

REVISING AGENTS MAY CALL DOOR-TO-DOOR

In some areas where there has recently been a significant change in population, it may be necessary to complete a limited door-to-door canvass to identify eligible voters In these cases, revising agents from Elections Ontario, working in teams of two, will be calling on residences to confirm voter eligibility If the revising agents come to your door, please make them welcome.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION CARDS WILL BE MAILED

The names of most qualified voters in Ontario will already be included on the Voters List for this election as a result of information contained in the Fermanent Register of Electors for Ontario. Those voters will receive a Notice of Registration card by mad. This card will confirm that they are on the Voters last, and it will provide their electoral district and the location of the poll where they will vote on election day

THE NOTICE OF REGISTRATION WILL LOOK LIKE THIS.

Treasurer Nancy Boiyin detailed the donations the society has made to Campbellford Memorial Hospital, the Parks and Ag-ricultural Society. Ideas were also discussed about a Mil Jennium Planting Project.

District Meeting

Glenn gave a brief report on the District Meetin Peterborough April 24th The topic of the a.m. session peaker was Xeroscaping--the process of growing plants under ex-tremely dry conditions. Some of the plants that survive under poor soil conditions and infrequent rainfall are listed:

Swan River daisy: California poppy and others, camomile, ice plant, Dahlberg daisy, cleome, cosmos, asters, creeping zinnia. achillea, butterfly weed, low in-summer William, lavender, hollyhock bergamot, sundrops and bushes such as barberry. rugose rose, lilac, jumper, potentilla, mungo pine, panny berry, green ash, etc.

The p.m. speaker's sub ject was enhancing your property for wild life habitat, such as rehabilitation of forests, wetlands, ponds, streams and shorelines. Have a plan for your property no matter how small with diversity of trees, water, food. shelter and space for birds and animals. Avoid chemicals in your planning.

The large mini show of 58 entries was judged by Lois Bennett, Many beautiful baskets of two varieties of cultivars were on display but everyone had made er rors in their selection. Cultivar refers to a variety of plant whose characteris; tics are the same (colour,

Tree Planting Glenn introduced the guest speaker, John Moore, operator of Baltimore Valles Produce and Garden Centre on Highway 5. His topic was "trees." Glenn completed his introduction with the following quotation by George Orwell, "the planting of a tree is a gift which you can make to posterity at almost no cost and with no trouble, and it will far outlive the visible effect of any of your other actions good or evil."

As well as selling trees and shrubs, which he buys at the Toronto market, John also plants trees for his customers if requested.

He presented his topic very casually, inviting ques-tions from those who had problems and providing many laughs with his expla-

A trée should be planted during its dormant period, not after it has leafed out. If a Christmas tree is due and planted in a pot, and an outdoor hole is dug for it in the hard, it can be transferred after its use indoors and replanted outside.

Then in ongoing years you can walk through your yard and view your Christmas trees of past years. If you grow spruce trees, do not remove their bottom branches (unless they're dead). You can spoil the shape of your tree.

Plant trees close to the house for shade, and at north and west sides for wind shelter. When planting, don't dig the hole too deep. Anchor roots should be ground level or even above grade air. Set the tree on the place you intend to dig. Make a circle around the root base. and discard most of the soil from the hole. Mix top soil, bone meal, peat moss and composted manure. Put the compost in the top six inches of the mixed soil.

Spread the tree roots in the hole and fill with soil, leaving a moat around the hole to fill with water. Repeat watering several hours ater. Thorough watering is required once a week.

If the tree is in a peat pot, carefully cutout the bottom and score on two sides so they can be removed. John likes planting bare root trees which are light and manage able, such as cherry, pear. Reliance peach (hardy), plum, privet, sandcherry and burning bush, etc. He prefers not to stake new plantings but, if necessary, he allows room for movement. (Book: Dirr's Hardy Trees and Shrubs).

Glenn thanked John for sharing the information. Next meeting, June h -- Speaker Erika 7th--Speaker Gaertner. Subject is "Hidden Pleasures and Dangers in Your Garden.

Tractor trailer driver charged with impaired

The 52-year-old driver of a 1995 Freightliner hauling an empty double tanker trailer has been charged with impaired driving after being stopped by the OPP on High way 401 in Hamilton Fown- / ship. The driver, William Beckstead, was transported to the Cobourg OPP detachment for intoxilyzer tests. He provided one sample, but refused to provide a second. He was subsequently charged with impaired driving, over .08, failing to provide a sample, dangerous driving and failing to keep a logbook.

Police were alerted after another transport driver re-ported a possible impaired driver after a tractor-trailer clipped the side mirror of the complainant's vehicle and didn't stop. The incident took place May 7th.

Assault Charge A 13-year-old male from Haldimand Township was arrested and charged with assault May 9th following an incident at a Baltimore park in Hamilton Township. Police say the 13-year-old started calling another youth names and pushed him to the ground.

A third youth intervened nd was pushed into a fence and then grabbed by the neck and lifted off his feet. The youth got away and proceeded to call 911 for sistance.

Break-and-Enter Approximately $2,350 in stolen property was taken when a Haldimand Town

New furniture store opens in Madoc

by W. Brice McVicar

Located in the old Nickle's Jewellery building on Durham Street in Madoc. The Furniture Wholeis a family run busi-

Within the spacious showroom there is a wide variety of cabinets, tables, rocking chairs and hope chests. All the furniture is home made by Lorraine and Bill Ball at their house just south of Marmora of High-

Lorraine's daughter, Wanda Whiteman, says the family opened the store bewe thought that it cause would do good. It's a change from being operated out of the house. We thought we'd contribute to the front street

All of the furniture is custom made from solid wood with no particle board. Whiteman states they make the furniture to the customcr's liking.

'If they want something bigger or smaller or some-ing custom wood furniture for 25 years. He previously operated a store, shop and howroom, previously in Belleville on Highway 2

Whiteman says it is now basically a family-run business with herself taking care of the new store while Lorraine and Bill do the building, sanding and staining.

'He builds kitchens and hars he builds everything I don't know if there's anything he doesn't build Whiteman says stating she's not exactly sure how her step-father got into the busi-

While not all of the furniture in the store is stained Whiteman explains that is done for a reason. "We have that so if the customer wants & to paint it they can or if they want to stain it themselves to match their furniture at home then they have the opportunity to do that."

Madoc Township students learn about bicycle safety

by W. Brice McVicar

With May being bicyale safety month all of the grade four classes in Madoc. Marmora and Tweed schools have been learning the importance of bicyele afety and on Wednesday May 19th that's exactly what some students at Madoc Township Public school did

Paul Melling, a certified Can-Bike instructor with the Canadian Cycling Association and founder of the Belleville Bicycle Touring Club, and Kerri Jianopoulos, Public Health Nurse with the Injury Prevention Program of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit, attended the school to teach the students how to ride safe.

Cycling is a popular activity among young Cana-dians. Yet, bicycle related injuries are a frequent cause of death and injury in young children. Fifty percent of all hospital admissions resulting from cycling injuries and 39% of all cycling injury deaths occur in those less that 15 years of age.

"I'm here to talk to you about bicycle safety and how important it is to you young people." Melling told the students, "We'll learn while we're having fun.

Melling stressed to the children that the helmet is "vitally important" and that 75% of bike fatalities are head injuries. Eighty perwearing helmets.

Up to 85% of serious head injuries could be prevented by wearing an proved, properly-fitted bi-cycle helmet. Even though 80% of all cycling deaths are head injuries in 1994 four out of ten parents said their children did not alwear helmets

Melling explained it was law that people under 18 years of age wear a helmet and he told the students there had been a study that showed a large percentage of those killed in bicycle head injury related acci-dents "were in your age hracket.". Melling and Jianopoulos then went through the right way to wear a helmet. They pointed out that the helmet should sit level on the wear er's head, there should be the space of two fingers from the helmet to the eyebrow, the chin strap should be tight enough to fit one finger under it and the straps should create a "V" below

"It's like wearing blue ans or a dress or a blouse. Melling stated, "it has to Another important ele ment on a bike is a bell.

Melling said. He explained to the students that having a bell or a horn on their bike enables them to make other people, be it motorists, other cyclists or pedestrians.

See and be seen, espe cially when you're riding at night," was Melling's ad-vice to students about reflectors on their bikes. He pointed out all bikes must have white reflection tape on the front and a red re flector on the back. Bikealso must have a white light Continued on page 20

Public School "He was an excellent peaker." Lehtila noted. Skitch spoke about how people dress and how, it adults dress more casually around children, kids will more comfortable and them. Skitch around stressed how important it is for kids to feel comfortable in their surroundings. He told those at the meeting that teachers and staff at Marmora Senior School irs not to dress up too much at the school so they are on the same level as the kids.

Lehtifa pointed out Skitch also touched on dis aplining children and how it is best not to be confrontational with children dur ing discipline. It is better if an adult and achild attempts to work their problems instead of facing each erther in a confrontational

"I think it's important that we put ourselves at the level of the kids so they get. an opportunity to identify us so there are no bar riers for the children when they're working with our agency," Lehtila stated.
"That could be partly in the way we dress, how we help them problem solve

Lehtila said she now has a screening committee with three people on it in place to check those people who want to be a big brother or big sister but she would still like to have one more te

I've had a tremendous increase of ac-tivity with applications to be big brothers or big sts-ters since we started the whole process but, of course, they're not screened Lehila pointed out The applications have not ver been returned although shy has had short interviews with each individual who requested an application

"Part of the difficulty that I've got," Lehtila noted, "is some really great young people who are coming out of high school that want to be involved with the agency but until they, know where they are going to go to uni-versity or college 1 can't screen them. They can't be screened and they can't be matched. You wouldn't do that if they were going to Trent University for the fall season so l'II just have to wait." by W. Brice McVicar.

After attending Stirling-Rawdon Council this past Monday Councillor Ken Nunn asked for myself and Lewis Zandbergen to wait for him outside once conncil was out of caucus. He wanted to discuss some-thing that "has nothing to do with council.

After the closed session Councillor Nunn, who operates Canine Drug Detec-tion, opened the back of his van and, out of a black plas tic garbage bag, hauled out 18 hashish bongs, six beer bottles, one liquor bottle and a small baggy containing marijuana residue. After picking my jaw up off the ground I was told by Councillor Nunn he had tound all of the items at a 'Ounte area high school' All items were found outside of the high school but still on school property!

How does that make you feel? At least you know what it is your kids are learning about at school. What can be done to stop this criminal activity from taking place at our schools?

While Councillor Nunn wouldn't name the school he told us he was told there were other schools in the area that had even more drugs in it than the one he attended. One kid told Nunn it would take him roughly half an-hour to locate some drugs to purchase in the school and the kidhad stated the school was "pretty dry Supposedly. in other schools, you can get your drugs a little bit quicker. It hasn't been that long since I was in high school and I can't ever remember seeing any drugs in my school or anyoné smokine pot on school grounds. I'm not saving there wasn't any dries in my school but it certainly wasn't as blatantly open as it appears to be at local high schools

Should it be made mandatory that the police con-duct drug searches inside these schools once a month? Maybe. Then again, what if a kid does get caught with drugs? They're young of-fenders and will probably get suspended for three or four days. Whooppee! So the kid basically gets a va-cation where he can go home and smoke his drugs when his parents work Now that's punishment!

If you think about it why wouldn't school be a great place to take drugs? They've got lockers with combination-locks on so they can store their personal belongings. What a perfect place to put my bag of hash. pot or even harder drugs. Geez, I wonder why there's drugs in schools.

So, who do we point the finger at? Teachers? Oh no. they're not responsible for watching those kids every hour they are at school. Parents? Of course not, these are young adults who deserve some privacy. Police Well, it's a busy world and you can't get everyone.

I'm not saying all these what I am trying to do is two things: point out that there is a problem with drugs in our schools no matter what teachers, politicians or students say and, secondly, ask you how this problem can be resolved.

Remember, 18 hashish bongs, six beer bottles, one liquor bottle and a baggie of pot on school property. Your taxes pay for that land.

On the Base with the Kosovar refugees

by Chris Bertelsen

As I write, the seventh light of Kosovar refugees landed at the Trenton fas randed at the Frenchias randed at the Frenchias Aur Base and has been processed, each flight holds approximately 270 souls. These are mostly families with children and elderly people who have been driven from their homes often with only minutes of notice and herded across he border into Macedonia Now here they are far from nome, in a strange land. nost speaking no English. out safe and well fed. It is no doubt the reason the process was named Operaion Parasol.

Operation Parasol has hree phases (1) reception and processing, (2) sustainment, a period of four osix weeks where the refugees will be at Camp Recovery at the Trenton Air Base and (3) integration, this phase includes placing refuzees with families

In addition to Military, Immigration and Medical personnel, at least 1100 volunteers including Salva-tion Army and Red Cross personnel have been involved in the difficult task of processing and relocat-ing the Kosovars and more are signing up every day.
The Red Cross is the "Um-brella Organization" re-sponsible for co-ordinating the activities of all non-gov ernment organizations and personnel.

Because we had already indicated our willingness to house a family if needed we were contacted by the Red Cross to ask our assistance and Lagreed to take the 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. shift twice a week. We would like to have done more but we have already committed our-selves to look after friends of ours' home and their out of the country and, besides, it's spring planting time and life must go on. I consider myself fortunate to have been asked to participate in what is no doubt a historic event and one of such humanity. According to Allen Taylor, The Op-erations Information Officer at the Operations Headquarters it is a first time that most of the personnel have been involved in such a massive undertaking. Allen was also most helpful in filling in missing details. I would like to share with you my experience by taking you through one day of the

I must say that the Miliand The Red Cross had in place a well organized process by the time I arrived on the scene. On the first day, at 5:30 a.m., I and a host of others had to report to the Sisken Center. adjacent to the Trenton Air Base to be registered by the Red Cross

Here we had to fill out forms giving personal in-formation, for an RCMP security check and a promise of confidentiality (the reason for the dryness of this article). We were given a Voluntéer Information Identification Tag, a name tag and a Red Cross vest. To make sure you returned there at the end of your shift you were required to leave some identification. We were told to proceed to the Mountain, View Air Base where the refugees had where the refugees had spent the night. The Albanian refugees had arrived the day before at the Trenton Air Base. All were greeted by Red Cross and Salvation Army per-sonnel as they came off the plane (some one told me it was the first time they had been greeted and welcomed by anyone). They were then grouped by families into units of about 35, given a colour sticker, food, and introduced to their inter-preter. These were mostly volunteer Balkans from all over Ontario. The one I was were then given a prelimi-nary check-up by Health Canada doctors to identify the most severe cases. They then had to pass through customs where they and their belongings were searched mainly to ensure no weapons were present. Shoes with any soil or organic material were confis cated and slippers were sub-stituted to guard against importation of diseases. They were then bussed to Mountain View and bedded down.

At the Mountain View gate Military Police checked your pass and directed you to the far hangar. Here a seasoned volunteer named Bill gave us our ori-entation session. The refu-gees were all dressed in striped greyish-blue bath robes and, as they were processed through immigration, were given identi-fication tags or Minister of Immigration permits. When the whole colour coded group had passed through the interpreters who wore red caps explained carefully each step of the process Each family was now assigned a volunteer. I. was assigned a family composed of a man, wife and two boys both under seven. The volunteer next to me got a family of eleven. All communication between myself and the family was by sign language or written pictures and numbers. For example, I was able to indicate distances on the maps posted around the room by writing down the names and KM. It is amazing how well you can communicate without language if you have to. For example. I was able to tell them about my family of nine natural adopted, foster and step-children by the use of a pedigree chart and symbols. They were able to do the same for their family. This way I found out who in their family was missing

Next came showers and hair washing, followed by a medical, then x-rays except young children, then blood work and, finally, immunization. My job basically was to make sure the family stayed together, that all went through each step, keep track of their medical records and that their needs were met as much as possi-ble. This was not always easy since the children liked easy since the children fixed to run off and play with other children and the adults liked to disappear for a smoke. One humorous in-cident in the whole tiring and somewhat bleak process occurred when, by two innocent mix-ups, the authorities tried to make the wife pregnant. When I told the interpreter to tell the husband that he had better keep a close eye on her we all burst out in laughter.

Throughout the day volunteers took orders for refreshments and brought us bagged lunches. As well, there was a large meal and snack serving area for volunteers and refugees alike.

At the end, the families were taken into a large area where they were outfitted with hockey bags, shoes, toys and clothes donated by individuals as well as the major department and chain stores. Zellers, for example, donated shoes as well as the slippers handed out a arrival. At this time the men had to go to a separate sec-tion and I was left with the wife and children. Much to my chagrin I had to explain. my chagrin final to explain to her in the only way I knew how, "body lan-guage", that she had missed the lingeric section. Again, nally, the family was allowed to change into their new clothing and off to the staging area to await the their next destination. Here we hugged and said our good-byes.

This finished the round robin for the Flo gang ad-vancing to the final against London, a team they had blanked earlier in the tour- .

The title game proved to be a much closer contest that the first match. Norwood scored first on a goal by Dave Heffernan, assisted by Raeburn Scott and Curry. London replied with two goals to take the lead but with seven minutes left in regulation Dave Heffernan, with McDougall and Frank Carlow setting things up, fired in the equalizer sending the game to overtime. The O.T. format had each team removing a player after a minute's play and this game ended up with a one-on-one showdown. With McDougall winning a face-off, Norwood was able to pull their goalie and add another skater, Lorne Curry. On a crafty move by Coach Merle Hannon, McDougall and Curry would not let the London player control the play and McDougall gathered a pass from Curry to score the tourney winning goal.

It was the team's second straight Forest City title.

Suiting up for the champs were goalie Dick Rogers, Fred Rogers, Raeburn Scott, Dan McDougall, Lorne Curry, Captain Mike Heffernan, Pete Kennelly, Frank Carlow, Bob Mike Steenburgh, Jerry King. Scott Shearer, Dave Dave Heffernan, Bernie Gannon. Mike Rioux and Coach Merle Hannon

TENSION-FREE GOLF BY GAIL NEWMAN

Need to see club head making ball contact

There's a phenomenon in golf that most of us have experienced.

It's called "premature admiration'

It seems that the closer we get to the green the faster our heads come up. Most of us are good at keeping our heads "down" when hitting a tee shot. In other words keeping our eyes on the ball and watching the club make contact.

That's because on a long shot we have plenty of time to catch the flight of the ball through the air and watch it land. Not so with shorter shots. Of course, we all want to see where the ball is going. Yet, it's just as impor-tant to watch the club make contact with the ball on short

The dreaded sculled shot is a perfect example. In anticipation of the shot, our heads come up before the ball is struck, making clean contact just about impossible. When our heads come up, so does the club head and we catch the ball halfway up, sending it careening way up, sending it careening through the green. Failing to watch the club make contact is probably the biggest reason for poor shots from 100 yards in.

Just as when we hammer a nail on the head, as long as we keep our eye on the nail. all is well. When we take our eye off the nail, our thumb usually pays the price.

When the same thing hap-pens in golf, our thumb is afe, but our score will suffer. For crisp, clean contact on all shots, putting included, watch the club make contact with the ball, and see your scores come down in-

Improved focus for a better game

Maintaining focus is golf's essential core

What most golfers struggle to understand is the sub-tlety of this maxim. Focus does not mean mentally straining to enforce alert ness throughout a swing. Far from it.

Instead, focus means staying in the moment and qui-etly observing the actions of the body without interfering with undo commentary tweaking. This is far differ-ent than the normal percep-tion of golfers who get to the ball and think that they must THEN assume this knitted brow attitude

Actually, that's when it is most important to begin to consciously relax and get through the pre-shot rou-tine without bringing in some sweat-inducing tensions. Focus is all about letting go and enjoying the game.
One Thought Only

Consider a wide-angled lens. Even though it can be focused precisely on its subect, still all the other parts of the scene are also included and in focus. Being human, you can only have one thought at a time. Ball, posi-tion, grip, hips, etc.—so many thoughts to have. Better to let go and trust your routine and enjoy the whole process like a wide angled lens that takes it all in WARKWORTH GOLF CLUB while precisely targeting its subject. Your subject is targeting without losing aware-ness of your surroundings. If you practice allowing all things to flow through you, then you don't have to be vigilant and disturbed if a bird flies by. As long as tar-geting is happening, nothing else can touch your swing. The primary elements of

1. Be in the moment. Stay "now". Sticking to your pre-shot routine should accomplish this for you. This stops any "fear forwarding" or "backward regretting" the backward regretting the last shot. The pre-shot routine is complex enough to take up your whole thinking ability. Let it. This leaves you nothing for fear to enter with an errant thought.

2. Targeting. This keeps you on this shot, not on the next shot.

3. Don't wear yourself out rehashing past shots. This is a form of visualization that is not only self-defeating from a psychological/programming standpoint. But it also takes a huge amount of energy that fatigues you and depletes resources you'll be better off using for entering your next pre-shot routine

Food-raising at home

While few soils are per-fect, not many are hopeless, so don't worry if you lack the "light, sandy loam" that vegetables prefer. If you have heavy clay or light sand, add organic matter when you till or spade. Also, spade mulch in at end of

To prepare the soil, rent a rotary tiller, or you can spade the plot if you wish. Either way, be sure the soil is broken up to at least a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Don't work when the soil is soggy; just wait a day or two after rain falls.

Remove grass tufts as you work. Break up soil clods. Rake away stones, sticks, debris. Add a twoinch layer of organic matter; compost or partly rotted leaves are good. Or, buy dry, bagged manure. Spread on garden and spade it in. Spread an all-purpose

Spring & Summer Lawn & Garden Guide

Tips for mowing the lawn safely

The routine task of mow ing the lawn - perhaps the most practiced rite of summer - can be hazardous, especially to children, if certain common sense precautions aren't taken

Experts traditionally see an increase in serious trauma injury to children during the summer months directly related to lawnmower accidents.

According to them, lawn mower injuries can be devastating. Often young vic-tims are scarred for life. ne suffering-amputation

Parents almost always feel tremendous guilt, especially when disfigure-ment and amputation are involved. These are very sad and tragic accidents, and often can be prevented if adults outline rules and procedures and keep reminding kids of them

Many cases involve small children falling off or running in the path of riding mowers, teens falling while mowing hills or slopes and children injured by flying objects or by mowers left

Also common are inju-ries to the head, eves and other body parts caused by projectiles - roots, sticks, toys - thrown out by spinning mower blades.

These objects can become deadly missiles, propelled at speeds up to 200 mph, causing serious injury to bones, skin, muscles, nerves and blood vessels.

Quick action on your part in the event of an injury can perhaps save life or limb.

The nature of lawnmower injuries makes them very dirty and bloody. First, clean the wound with water and apply direct pressures to try and stop the bleeding. Wrap the wound with a clean bandage and head to Never put children on riding mowers, alone or with an adult.

- Never let small children operate a mower, even under your supervision.

- Teach teenagers how to use a mower safely and to recognize potential hazards.

- Insist that they wear goggles to protect the eye and face, sturdy shoes with good traction soles, and long pants and no flowing or loose clothing.

- Cut grass only in daylight.

- Néver cut wet grass. If it's damp enough for your time changes are shoes to slip, chances are

- Don't pick up debris while you're mowing, especially from a riding

- Never let children play the cutting area. You in the cutting area. You can't hear them with the mower running.

Attacked by caterpillars

Q: My tree is being attacked by caterpillars and has lost a lot of foliage. Will it survive?

A: There are several species of insects that attack trees in large numbers and can cause impressive dam-

Caterpillars are often the cause of damage, although some sawfly larvae or leafbeetle larvae can be quite voracious. When defoliation occurs

Political Strife

Team president Larry Metcalfe said that the team executive has had an ongo ing dispute with municipal officials over the completion of the Rebels' dressing room, resulting in some thought about moving the team to Stirling or Warkworth.

He said the municipality is forcing the club to spend another $3,000 to put in a player door access to the ice surface at the Arena "even after purchasing $800 worth of equipment approved by the Ministry of Labour to motorize the overhead door."

"Moving to another nearby location could save us $20 to $30 per hour less for ice time than trying to operate in our home town," noted Metcalfe. "But we started out as the Campbellford Rebels and we'll remain the we'll remain the Campbellford Rebels." In his season-ending re-port, Metcalfesaid the Rebels enjoyed a break-even season with total operating in-come of $94,656 and ex-penses of $92,904 to finish in the red by $1,750 with no outstanding accounts.

Durham school threats

Peterborough -- Durham Regional Police have appealed to parents of local students to talk to their children and warn them of the consequences of making idle threats or prank telephone

Police said recent calls and threats received appear to be linked to the school shootings in Colorado and Alberta

A spokesperson said that since April 30th Durham Police have responded to a number of local schools in the region when school staff have either become aware of rumours circulating in the schools, or received telephone calls of threats of violence.

Nancy Sharpe, Manager of Communications for the Catholic District School Board, says that the rumours have not only persisted but have increased to the extent that some schools are re-porting a decrease in stu-dent attendance by as much as 40 per cent. The latest telephone calls, occurring May 13th to an Oshawa high school, deanded millions of dollars share of game seven against Picton was $2,200," he pointed out

Volunteers Big Help However, he said the team's financial status was accomplished only through the help of many volunteers and donations to build a team dressing room at a cost of $9,000. He said the financing of the Rebel team is accomplished through sponsorships, fundraising and home game revenues. While sponsored dances at the Arena brought in over $15,000 net, said Metcaffe, insurance regulations are putting this fundraising ac-tivity at risk. Therefore, he said the executive is attempting to identify one major fundraiser and cut back the dances to just a few. will renew their rivalry with Central Junior, C League teams with the revival of interlocking play with Uxbridge, Georgina, Port Perry, Little Britain, Bobcaygeon and Lakefield. Colborne is no longer a member of the Empire League.

Metcalfe says there is a possibility of a number of majorchanges occurring for junior hockey at the OHA annual meeting in June. Among the issues being considered are increasing the number of overage players from three to two; lowering the number of players dressed to 18 from 20; and lowering the team roster from 25 to 19 players. "If any or all of these amendments go through it will have a major affect on the structure of junior hockey in Ontario." said Metcalfe. Many of these changes are suggested to improve midget and juvenile hockey in the OMHA, and have a lot of merit. The mandatory one year of midget has been dis cussed for some time

Officers will be patrol. ing the waters around the Bay of Quinte in a newly acquired twenty-two foot metal craft. In addition they will be using a sixteen foot runabout to patrol the inland lakes and rivers of the detachment area This year's fleet will also include a two person water-craft that have been donated to help officers reduce community concerns.

We have designed these marine mitiatives with the help of our community committees and we will do our best to address their consaid Detachment Commander Bryan Pollard.

Officers will be patrolimg to ensure all vessels are properly equipped includ-ing the required use of life jackets. However, at the heart of this initiative is the

W holds monthly meeting

Paul's Anglican Church Women held their monthly meeting on May with nine, members attendance

President Joan Hutt called the meeting to order tollowed with devotions led by Elizabeth MacGregor.

Minutes of the April meet ing were read and approved. Business arising from the minutes included a report from the ACW Diocesan annual gathering at St. Luke's, Kingston on May 6. Bishop Peter Mason cel-ebrated the Eucharist and praised the ACW for their vork and dedication

Seven members from St. Paul's and one from St. Mark's attended the event and learned the theme for 1999 being "Sharing-Car-ing-Friendship". Thank offerings received from all parishes were divided among five groups: The Bishop's Discretionary Fund, Camp Hyanto, Pri-mate World Relief and Development Fund, The Leprosy Mission (Canada), and the local hospice (King-

The ACW President elected is Barbara Huot and Vice-President is Margue-Webber.

Our President reported having notified the committee preparing the Millen-nium calendar to include our Christmas Bazaar, bake sale and luncheon date and also mention our monthly meeting.

A vote was taken and approved by all members to send one of Sunday School children to Camp Hyanto for a week during the summer.

I was so emotionally and physically zonked out that I nearly ended up in the ditch on the way home but never felt so good or so rewarded. I believe nearly every prophet of God, including Mohammed and Bahau'alla (which means The Glory of God), has stated in one way or another that service to God and his children especially the most needy is the highest of all callings. And Jesus, Son of God, certainly demonstrated it and exemplified it when he knelt and washed the feet of his disciples. I feel hope for our future when I see the outpouring of such service by so many from this area.

"I look like a Christmas tree riding down the road at night but I don't care because motorists can see me," Melling said. He commented that people have a tendency to wear dark clothing when they are riding at night when, in fact, they should be wearing a visible colour such as yellow, white or orange.

Melling also told stu-dents they should do the A.B.C. Bike Check before they ride. A is for air. Melling explained if there isn't enough air in the tires it's easier to pick up sharp objects." B stands for brakes. "Your brakes should work for obvious reasons. Melling said. C represents the crank. Melling said it's important the students' pedals, chain and sprockets are fine before they take their bike out ommunity Issues Committee gets back on track

by W. Brice McVicar

Holding their first meet-ing since January 11th the Community Issues Com-mittee held a meeting on May 19th.

"This meeting," stated O.P.P. Sergeant and Committee member Jeff Brooks. "is a way to get us back on the tracks. I don't want to see this committee fall

Without having a meeting for nearly six months the committee discussed issues that had been brought before them back in January and talked about whether they had been resolved.

Brooks noted the committee would be in need of a secretary for the summer months when current secretary Kristi Reid takes a leave of absence. Member Wynne Rollins said she would take over the post tion during Reid's absence. Itwas mentioned that two of the yellow "Please Obey Posted Speed Limits..." signs have been posted in the village. One sign is posted in front of Danford's Construction on Durham Street South and another is posted on St. Lawrence Street West. All of the signs found sponsorship through local businesses or organizations (Foley's Bus Lines, IGA, Doug Hunter, Home Hardware, Danford's Construction and the Citizens on Patrol). The other four signs were expected to be delivered to the O.P.P. detachment last week and will be posted as soon as possible. The posts and equipment used to erect the signs has all been donated by Madoc TIM-BR Mart and the labour to put them up has been donated by the Municipality of Cen tre Hastings.

Sgt. Brooks stated the sions are in response to on going complaints the O.P.P. received concerning speed-ing within the village lim-its. He said the committee thought this was one way to alert the drivers of the posted speed limits and to request they watch their speed. "The response was really good," Brooks noted. "We didn't have to go around to find the sponsors."

it was mentioned that nothing has taken place with the skate-board park at Whytock Park though it was anticipated it would be com plete by now

"It's not really, techni-cally, our issue." Brooks said. "I hope it gets done, the kids need a place to go," The matter is to be dealt with by Centre Hasting

The problem with kids smoking in front of the high school is another issue that had been on the commit-tee's agenda and that too is not as bad as it was when first looked at by the com-

Joyce Watson com-mented, "We don't see as many kids downtown at night as we used to.

Sgt. Brooks said there, have been some problems in the village lately such asgraffiti, theft from vehicles and some break and enters.

"I think." Brooks stated concerning youth crime.
"that's a select few and we're dealing with them."
The matter concerning speeding on Wellington Street is still a problem and the committee is hoping to have a crosswalk painted Continued on page 13

C.H.S.S. Boys' Curling place fourth in Ontario

by Shawn Rashotte

The Centre Hastings Boys' Curling Team had a very successful 1998/99 season. Finishing fourth in regular season, these young were determined to beat the best. Representing their school with pride, the four young curling pro s participated in the Bay of Quinte finals. Placing sec-ond and receiving a silver medal, the team then advanced to the Central Ontario play-downs called COSSA. Travelling to the Trenton Curling Club in early March, the boys played hard and hoped for the best. Taking an interesting turn, the team pulled out with the gold. They now became Central Ontario Championships and advanced to the Boys' All Ontario School play-downs. With the help from other curlers and local clubs, the and become prepared to play in Toronto at the Avonlea Curling Club on April 27th. Despite heavy odds and a lack of competitive curling experience, the team again attempted to come out on top. Rising to the occasion, the young curlers defeated all teams sending, them to the final four on the last day. Alas, the season wrapped up with a last rock loss to Sault Ste. Marie and the boys came home with a fourth place medal.

This is the highest finish ever for a CHSS curling team but the team feels that it certainly will not be the last. First year coach Don Goodfellow had a mixed team of veterans and rook-ies. There were returning curlers from previous and one new curler. The team consisted of Ryan (skip). Shawn Rashotte (vice). Continued on page 15

PhoneBusters shows how to prevent being a scam victim

by W. Brice McVicar

Detective/Staff Sergeant Barry Elhott of the O.P.P. presented the Phone Busters seminar at both the Madoc Kiwanis Centre and the Stirling Lions Halfon Tuesday.

Put on by the Federated Women's Institutes the seminar, aimed primarily at seniors, explained how phone scam operators work and how not to be sucked in.

"We're really trying to educate the heck out of people because it's really the only way to fight this crime," stated Elliott.

Elliott explained he is

"It's not a question about the amount of money." he stated, "this fraud can re ally destroy a person's life.

From 1995 to 1999 there was $40 million lost to tele marketing fraud involving 12,000 victims. Half of that money was lost in Ontario and half of those victims live in Ontario

"The interesting percent-age of that." Elliott said, "is that 79% of that $40 million was taken from people over 60. They can take advantage of your situation. You may be widowed, you may he lonely and they try to become your friend. The emotional violence associated with tele-fraud is sec ond to none.

which only recently hosted the very successful Prince Edward County Conservation Dinner, is planning another - this time in support of the O'Hara Mill Museum and Proneer Village. Museum curator and avid supporter Jack Dixon says he has been overwhelmed by the response from Quinte area residents to the dinner coming up on June 12th, at 6 p.m. in the Madoc Township Recreation Hall in Eldorado

"Everyone seems to be very much in support of keeping this historic site open to the public, reflected by the donations of items we have received to date. With CJBQ's Peter Thompson as emeee and Boyd Sullivan as auctioneer, the dinner promises to be a funevent," stated Dixon. Both personalities have participated at past conservation dinners in Picton and Boyd Sullivan's slapstick comedy during live auctions is an entertainment package by many door prizes. Everyone should have a good chance of going home from the event with something," stresses Dixon who says that antique buffs should also have a good opportunity to bid on some cresting items. Although the event is geared toward a pioneer theme, antiques won't be the only items up for auction, says Dixon. Dixon states he has already received donations of art work.eralts.gift certificates and miscellaneous mer-chandise. Last-year's fundraising dinner raised over $7000 for the O'Hara Mill complex.

Entertainment at this year's dinner will be provided by Harmonie, a group of five entertainers from the Belleville area who have enjoyed a high degree of success and all of whom have been involved in past productions put on by the Belleville Theatre Guild. O'Hara Mill plans for fundraising dinner

The O'Hara Mill and homestead is located on 84 acres of conservation land, owned by the Moira River Conservation Authority (Quinte Conservation). The house was built in 1848 and with its original furniture and other artifacts, illustrates the evolution of a pioneer homestead from its more primitive stages to the elegance of late Victorian Canada. The house enjoyed continuous family occupation for nearly 120 years, depicting the domestic and agricultural life of the O'Hara family.

Central Ontario Pony Club Regional Tetrathlon

Teams from the Pine Ridge Pony Club, with members from this area, will compete in the Central On-Regional Tetrathlon being held on Saturday, May and Sunday May l'etrathlon is a very demanding competition with four parts swimming. shooting running and riding Scoring varies with the phase. In swimming, points are given for the time taken. to complete a fixed distance 50 200m, depending on fevels in shooting, the points are given for the number of shots in the far get and their position in the target (similar to darts). Running is scored by the time taken to complete a cross-country course. Rid-ing is scored like the crosscountry and stadium jumping phases of the evening with penalty points for re-fusals, falls and taking longer than the optimum time to complete the course. Boys and girls complete in separate divisions in Tetrathlon and there are five levels for each: Innior A Junior B. Senior A. Senior

B and Novice. The "A" and "B" splits are determined by the competitors' level of riding skills as measured by the Canadian Pony Club testing system.

The winners of Regional competition at the Senior and Junior "A" levels have a chance of being chosen to represent the region at national and international competitions.

Tetrathlon feeds into the Modern Pentathlon which adds fencing and substitutes stadium jumping for the cross-country riding phase

The shooting, swimming and running competitions will take place at St. Andrews College in Aurora both on Saturday. The stadium, and cross-country ridwill both be held at Saddlewood Equestrian Centre near Bethany on Firefighters douse flames. A 1993 Chevrolet half-ton was destroyed by fire Friday. May 21st just west of Hoards Station. Jeff Rowe of Campbellford said just as he was passing through Hoards Station he lost all electrical power in its truck and then the engline died. By the time he pulled it over to the side of the road smoke and flames were shooting just from under the hood. Rowe managed to retrieve some personal effects from the vehicle before the entire cab was ingulfed in flame. Campbellford firefighters quickly extinguished the blaze but the truck was virtually destroyed. There vere no injuries. -BD photo

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor.

What a surprise it was to ne to be informed I had een nominated and choen as Prominent Senior for Hastings/Peterborough rid ng in 1999. The Year of the Older Person.

Being a volunteer is fun and fulfilling for me. I just ike to chat with people and naybe feel I have been of nelp. It gives a special puroose to retirement years.

The ceremony in Kington and the community gathering in the Marmora Town Hall will stand out as

Liberal candidate leaves campaign because of father's death in Windsor

Cobourg -- Northumberland Liberal candidate Carolyn Campbell has been forced to interrupt her Ontario election campaign to be with her family in Windsor following the death of her father.

Campbell received a call from her sister Connie that their father passed away May 28th at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Windsor. He died of a massive heart attack.

Carolyn's father, Fred L. Revell, was born in England and moved to the Windsor area when he was an infant. There, he raised his family of three daughters, Carolyn, Connie and Laurie. Fred was a lifetime em-ployee of the Windsor Daily Star. His employment service was interrupted when he went overseas to serve his country during World War Two. Fred remained active in his community through the Royal Canadian Legion.

Mr. Revell was very proud of his daughter's candidacy and was looking forward to June 3rd and the outcome of the Ontario election. He handed out "vote Carolyn Campbell" buttons to the nurses and proudly related stories of his daughter.
The Legion service in Mr. Revell's honour was held

Friday evening, May 28th and the funeral was scheduled Saturday, May 29th at Kelly's Funeral Home in Windsor. Carolyn will be in Windsor with her family for three days but was expected to return to the task of campaigning in her riding Sunday, May 30th.

Costly inspection for Trenton firm

The Ministry of Transportation and OPP truck inspectors teamed up last week on the 401 construction zone to look at gravel trucks and the exercise proved costly for one

Two Southfork dump trucks from Trenton were taken off the road due to inadequate brakes. Defects were serious enough on one truck as to receive a critical defects label. In most areas this would have meant impounding the vehicle for 15 days. However, Northumberland County does not have a critical defects compound.

Both drivers were charged with failing to inspect their trucks, a $375 fine each, and Southfork was charged with an unsafe vehicle which requires a court attendance. Improper brakes carries a $480 fine.

The Oueen's International Recruitment Fair in February was a fascinating experience, John says.

Finally accepting the job offer was "very scary," he acknowledges, and required a great deal of soulsearching by he and his wife.

There were between 70-80 schools there and every school at the fair received copies of the applicant profiles. Based on these they decided who they want to interview

Before the fair, John was given a pamphlet with all the schools and jobs that would be available. Based on this he and other jobseekers would pick who they would like to be interviewed by. When John arrived at Queen's there were three or four "blue slips" in his folder a few from schools he wanted to interview for. He was happy about this."

There were also a couple from schools he was not too sure about.

This was the first time Yew Chung had sent repre-sentatives to the fair and John had his first interview Saturday morning. A second interview was set for that afternoon. At the end of this interview they said he should phone back the

The Youngs spent the night talking about making, what both agree, would be a difficult decision.

John also received an attractive offer from an Indonesian school but officials

More Abled than Disabled

By Barbara Pealow and Sandra Outingdyke

Carl E. Hiebert's Gift of Wings

Carl Hiebert has his roots in a simple Mennonite farming community in Southern Ontario. Interesting begin-nings for a man who has become an adventurer, entrepreneur and aviator.

He first stepped out of his traditional mould by spend-ing a season in the North st Territories teaching Math and English to newly founded immigrants. The experience awakened his "wanderlust" spirit and from there he was off to see the world. Living on an average of $1.35 a day he worked and travelled his way around the globe, accumulating a unique collection of experiences...such as climbing on the Matterhorn, hunt ing wild boar in India, and being nearly stranded in Sin-

In 1981 Carl's life direction took a drastic turn when he broke his back in a fluke hang-gliding accident. Dealing with that tragedy be-came his biggest challenge ever.

Within two months of his injury, some friends smug gled him out of the hospital and into an ultralight aircraft. He spent the rest of that afternoon wheeling and dancing in the skies. "To dancing in the skies. look down and see an empty wheelchair was probably the best therapy that could have happened says Carl. "I knew then that I would survive and find the excitement in living again." Within two years he had opened his own flight school and became probably the first paraplegic tlight instructor in Canada. In 1986, Carl had the opportunity to fulfil an exciting dream when he be came the first person to fly across Canada in an open cockpitultralightaircraft. His two months, 5000 mile epic flight ended at Expo 86 in Vancouverand drew national media attention. Carl Hiebert appeared at the Aron Cinema Theater; Campbellford, on Thursday, May 27th at 7:30 p.m. and made a big impression with a slide show outlining his exploits.

Underdogs win three in tourney

The Underdogs AAA Summer Hockey League team travelled to Stouff ville for their first tournament of the season.

Underdogs lost an 8-3 decision to the Tri-County. Sabres in their first start.

Underdogs recovered with a reversal of form in game two to whip the K-W Blackhawks 7-3. Nate Thomas led the way with three goals while singles went to Andrew Smith, Adam Bebee, Brad Dormiedy and Matt Flesch.

Crush Blades 8-1

In their third game, the Underdogs clipped Midland Blades 8-1 and went on to face the Saugeen Platers. It was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way with the Underdogs suffering a 7-6 sel-back. Goal-scorers for the Underdogs were Warner, MacDougall, Robar Thomas, Dormiedy and Lewis.

Platers came from be-hind a 6-4 deficit late in the game for the victory.

Ag investment plan is vital to Ontario economy

Dairy Farmers of Ontaric supports the call for investment in agriculture outlined in the plan developed by an unprecedented co-operative effort between farmers and the Ontario government

This program outlines an exciting and innovative vision for Ontario's second largest industry as we move toward the 21st century," said John Core, chair of the 7,000 member Dajry Farmers of Ontario.

The Farmers of Ontario, in conjunction with the On-tario Ministry of Agricul-ture, Food and Rural Af-fairs (OMAFRA), have developed a comprehensive business proposal which would ultimately create jobs, promote strong rural communities strengthen Ontario's economy.

Five key areas

The Farmer s of Ontario, a coalition of 41 provincial farm organizations, teamed up with OMAFRA staff to develop a series of proposed actions and programs in five key areas that are compatible with the business plan of the Ministry. Their report was recently presented to OMAFRA Minister Noble Villneuve.

"The report, entitled Ontario Agriculture - Op-portunities for Investment in a Healthy Future, expresses a vision for the ag riculture industry in the 21st century," said Farmers of Ontario co-chair and Ontario Federation of Agricul ture President Ed Segsworth. "With these ini-Ed tiatives, we will maintain our leadership role in tech-nological advancements and environmental steward-ship," added Segsworth.

ship," added Segsworth. Fellow co-chair and On-tario Agricultural Commodity Council chair Wayne Newman explained that these proposals have been six months in the making. The report outlines pro-posed opportunities in five key areas, consisting of risk management, research and technology transfer, food safety, market development and the environment. "All five key areas are equally important for the continued success of the industry, Newman added.

High quality forages for dairy producers

by H. Harricharan OMAFRA, Brighton

With spring here, dairy producers are looking to make the best of the growing season to produce high quality torages for the comme winter

Every dairy producer knows the economic impor-tance of harvesting and stormg high quality forages. The real challenge is to identify the correct time for harvest ing and storing under ideal conditions. Harvest of the first cut of alfalfa is critical in making good quality hay or silage. It is a known fact that forage quality deteriorates rapidly once cutting is delayed beyond the optimum harvest time Studies conducted on alfalfa forages revealed that three main components in forages-crude protein (CP), acid detergent (ADF) and neutral detergent fibre (NDF) are affected by delayed harvesting. Producers know that the ideal high quality forage has 20 percent crude protein, 30 per-cent acid detergent fibre, and 40 percent neutral de-tergent fibre. These components change when har-vesting is delayed by one day. Crude protein content decline by 0.5 percent. ADF increases by 0.7 percent and NDF increases by 0.9 percent for each day past the peak harvest time. In fact. research reports suggested that alfalfa harvested five or six days late can cause a loss in milk production of 0.45 kg per day unless the forage is adequately supplemented with energy and protein to compensate for the decrease in intake of the loss in quality.

Growing degree days one measure, which can be used to determine the ideal harvest date, but many producers do not collect and collate weather data on their farm and hence they are unable to say when the ideal 350 degrees celsius (650 degrees Fahrenheit) grow -ing degree days have been accumulated. However. growing degree days may be available at your local OMAFRA office.

Ideally, alfalfa should be harvested at the early bud stage at a time when the physical development of the plant is used as a gauge of maturity and quality. Often poor growing conditions prevail and the producers are unable to observe the physical changes in the plant and must rely on other methods to determine harvest-ing time. When they are unable to make the visual observation, they should fall back on the calendar method. This method pays attention to the time of the year when the plant reaches maturity: at the end of May to early June in established

Harvesting early allows producers to get several cuttings in a year, increase level of production and improve quality of forage Once the first cut is taken the second cut should be made 35 days later. Any additional cut should take into consideration the time required to build plant reserves for the winter. The first three weeks of growth is used to drain the root systern and the next two weeks builds the reserve. A fall cutting should have either no re-growth or five weeks of growth.

Decision on Canada's Dairy programs in fall

The World Trade Organization is expected to hand down a final decision on the legality of Canada's dairy programs by mid-October, a top VI.S. trade official has said. Last month, a WTO dispute settlement panel agreed with the United States that the Canadian system that provides low-cost milk to processors constitutes an export subsidy that is subject to discipline under WTO rules.

Canada is expected to appeal that decision once the panel issues its final report, Peter Scher, U.S. special negotiator for agricultural trade, told a gathering of the U.S. Dairy Export Council. Canada must make its appeal within 30 days after that time.

"The final decision (on the appeal) should be com-pleted by the end of September or mid-October," said

The U.S. contends that Canada's system of providing low-cost milk to processors violates international commitments to curb dairy export subsidies. For some dairy products, Canada has been subsidizing exports at more than twice the level it was allowed under the 1994 Uruguay Round trade pact, U.S. officials have said.

Scher expressed confidence that the United States would win on appeal and Canada would have to reform its system. "Once that appeal is finished, the clock starts ticking on their compliance," he said.

June Dairy Month Special

Dairy Discovery showcases premier cattle

covery Committee recently reviewed the merits of the four years of the show held annually in September, prior to World Dairy Expo Week.

The committee reaffirmed the exhibitors' request for a show of this calibre to show-case Ontario and Canadian Holsteins and Jerseys. Based on exhibitor and industry input, the committee has decided to move the show to an earlier summer date.

For 1999, the show days! will be Tuesday, June 29th forthe Jerseys, and Wednes-day; June 30th for the Holsteins

These late June dates will avoid hay harvest seasons for most exhibitors and will be early enough to show-case animals to American and Canadian breeders prior to their summer and fall

"Great quality," "An honour to judge!"
"Great cattle."

These comments of Holstein judge Don Johnston and Jersey judge Frank Robinson were repeated often as they analyzed the quality classes parading be-fore them during the two days of Ontario Dairy Dis-covery 1998. Their com-ments were re-echoed by the ringside crowd gathered at the beautiful new Brampton Fairgrounds, which included a large number of international guests from as far away as olombia, Jordan, Hungary Holland, Slovakia, the United Kingdom and Russia.

Robinson of Lodi, Calif., brought his international expertise to the judging of 98 head of Jerseys, the larg-est Jersey showing yet. The competition was very stiff, as many of the best in the breed vied for top honours.

A five-year-old, JF Cadets Cass, exhibited by Bridon Farms of Paris, Ont., was selected as Grand Chamwas selected as Grand Cham-pion. Reserve Grand Hon-ours went to Llolyn's Jude Gold, owned by Mike and Jill Bossy and Llolyn Farms of Princeton, Ont. The Preby Fred and Ruth Armstrong of Auburn, and Bridon Farms was named Premier Exhibitor.

After closely scrutinizing the 146 Holsteins at Ontario Dairy Discovery, Judge Don Johnston commented that he was being made to work hard due to the deep quality of the classes. Johnston, of Martintown, Ont., has officiated at many of the major shows throughout the world, including the Royal Agriculral Winter Show

In determining the Grand Champion he began by selecting five animals which he admired the most.

From these the first place mature cow, Doanlea Fran-chise Sabina, owned by Marthaven Holsteins and Donald Doan of Woodstock, was awarded the Grand Champion honours, The Reserve Grand title went to Quality Counselor Rocie owned by Quality Holsteins. Both the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor hon went to Quality Holsteins

From the first planning stages of Ontario Dairy Dis-covery, the organizers acknowledged two things. First, the dairy business is built on good cattle and secondly, successful dairying relies for its success on good people.

Most authorities consider that cheese was first made in the Middle East. The earliest type was a form of sour milk which came into being when it was discovered that domesticated animals could be milked.

milk had been effectively separated into curds and whey by the combination of the rennin, the hot sun and the galloping motions of the horse. The nomad, unconcerned with technical detail found the whey drinkable and the curds edible.

Cheese was known to the ancient Sumerians 4,000 years before the birth of Christ. The ancient Greeks credited Aristaeus, a son of Apollo and Cyrene, with its discovery. It is mentioned in the Old Testament.

Hesston Round Balers

A legendary story has it that cheese was discovered by an unknown Arab nomad. He is said to have filled a saddlebag with milk to sustain him on a journey cross the desert by horse. After several hours riding he stopped to quench his thirst only to find that the milk had separated into a pale watery liquid and solid white lumps Because the saddlebag, which was made from the stomach of a young animal, contained a coagulating enzyme known as retinin, the Homestead milk, butter and cheese

Jersey cows good for more than just the barbecue

by Raye A. Carlaw

The jersey cow you bought to give you freezer beef can also be used to produce milk, butter and cheese for your table

Although you may have bought a reject from the milk factory farm she is probably quite capable of not only providing for her calf but also provide you with lots of milk for your table

Grain needs for your jersey will increase as you demand more from her. Purchase a good 16% dairy ration from your local feed store. Check quality and price before making a choice because once you start on a grain ration stick to it as it is better for your cow to have a consistent diet. Insist on a pure grain formula with no artificial additives or chemicals. Her extra grain can be fed to her as you milk her for your

The best routine is to milk your cow early in the morning. To do this you must isolate the calf from the cow so there is milk for you in the morning. Keep the calf within sight of its mother otherwise the bawling and bellowing will keep you awake all might. Cows love a regular routine so always milk her at exactly the same time everyday even if you feel like sleeping in. Being a homesteader is not always

Put your cow in a tie-up so she can't travel around as you milk her. Being clean in all you do with your cow and her milk is vital for your health as well as your cow Wash you hands

Bring a pail of warm, soapy water and wash her udder and teats thoroughly. Dry her with clean paper towels. By now she will have let down her milk for you. Yes, she has control ...over whether she will give you milk or not. Talk to her, rub her bag and be a good friend. Do not let her kick. If she does so give her a swift kick on the offending leg everytime she does so and say "No!". She will eventually learn to tolerate you Remember, your hands are not nearly as pleasant as a warm, loving calf. You are the boss and let her know

Milk her out completely and dip each teat with a special cup and teat dip (available at your feed store). The cup is $4 and the dip is about $10 per gallon.

If you are not clean with your cow you can give her mastitis, an infection in her udder. She becomes very ill, you lose your milk, the calf is in trouble and you can ruin your cow for milk production for the future. If you even suspect an udder infection call your vet or contact an experienced milk farmer to assess your suspicions. Now that you have milked your cow strain your milk through a clean cloth to be sure your milk is clean of impurities. Store your milk in a super clean container. I always use glass or stainless steel. Plastic is too hard to clean. Refrigerate.

Jersey milk has a very high cream content. Beau tiful rich cream will be found in the morning floating on top of your milk. Spoonitoff and store it for whip cream or your coffee or afternoon tea

Butter making Sweet cream can be made into butter but I prefer to make butter from pleas antly sour cream. Skim the cream off your milk and leave it in a glass jar (don't tighten the lid) in a 65 degree Fahrenheit room. Add cream for three days. With your electric beater beat the cream (ten minutes or so) until pea size globs of butter appear. Strain through a cloth and save the beautiful buttermilk for a treat. Sozzle

the butter globs under cool

utes. Place the butter in a press, or use your bread board and press out the remaining buttermilk. Salt (one teaspoon per pound) may be added if you wish but sweet unsalted butter has a rare and beautiful flavour. Form and chill. Remember, in former times if you couldn't churn butter ou were considered a

The liquid left from the butter making is not the same as store bought buttermilk. Usually it is a great treat chilled and salted. If not, use it for pancakes or other baking. Chickens also like it as a treat.

witch

Whole books have been written about cheese making. Here is a simple method for using up your extra milk to make a firm, white cheese that is great on pizza or cut up in a salad. Try making your cheese without added salt for a healthy cheese.

Put four litres of milk

(more if you've got it) in a super clean stainless steel pot and heat until it is 80 degrees fahrenheit (add saltoptional-one tablespoon). Add five tablespoons of vinegar. Stir. Keep warm but do not stir anymore for five or ten minutes until it starts to thicken. Remove from heat and let sit for an hour or so. Strain in a colander lined with cloth. Drain extremely well and twist the cloth to squeeze out all moisture. It will now be fairly firm. Pack in a container and refrigerate. Voila... cheese.

Happy homesteading.

Origin of cheese

Continued from page 9/11 could be matured. In large towns home-made cheese could be taken to a special centre to be smoked. Cheese was served on the tables of the nobility and travelled to the far corners of the Roman Empire was a regular part of the rations of the legions.

During the Middle Ages monks became innovators and developers and it is to them we owe many of the classic varieties of cheese marketed today. During the Renaissance period cheese suffered a drop in popularity, being considered unhealthy, but it regained fa-vour by the 19th Century, the period that saw the start of the move from farm to factory production.

NDHS Council news...

Sharon Stanley new chair of school council

By Marg VanWill

Asphodel-Norwood - A well-attended and success well-attended and success-ful meeting of the Norwood community School Coun-cil was held May 20. Principal Walt Principal Walt Greenway handled the elec-tion of officers after the regular meeting, chaired by Janice Matthews.

Chairperson for the 1999-2000 year will be Sharon Stanley with Vice Chair Sheila Olan-McLean The Secretary position will be shared by Jean be shared by Jean Woodburn and Sharon Macey. Rhonda Leeper was elected as Treasurer. The Parent Representatives will be Judy Menzies, Darlene Heffernan, Donna Ruttan. Janice Matthews and Marg VanWill. There will be more news to come as the Teacher and Student Representatives have yet to be finalized.

Christine Orton reported details for the Civil War re-enactment for May 27-29. Anticipation is mounting and final preparations are underway.

Congratulations is extended to the Dixieland Jazz Band for their superb performance at the national Championship competition on May 19 in Toronto where they earned a silver medal in a tough competition. It was a rewarding experience

Gardening is fun but watch for back injuries

Now that spring has sprung and people turn to thoughts of gardening, Registered Physiotherapist. Doreen Sharpe of Campbellford underlines the need to guard against suffer-ing back problems.

Unfortunately, gardeners have a tendency to overwork themselves in their garden and end up nursing a sore back at the end of their hard day of work. Aches and pains often result from poor posit tioning of the body, poor gardening techniques and overuse of specific muscle groups.

Therapacc Inc. Rehabilitation Services, which has an office in Campbellford, provides the following article so people can garden without incurring physical injury or serious back in-

It has been discovered that the most common gardening injury occurs at the lumbar spine. This lower region of the back bears the brunt of prolonged and re-petitive forward bending and lifting. Through the use of some friendly tips, garden-ing can become a hobby that is great for both your body and soul.

Begin your gardening with a nice light warm up.

Start with some easy raking or go for a five-minute walk to raise your heart rate and warm up your muscles. Follow this with stretching of all the major muscle groups in order to minimize muscular aches and pains and help prevent injury. Extra time should be devoted to stretching the muscoles of your back, neck, hands and fingers. Ask your physiotherapist to show you some stretches that will be beneficial while gardening.

Be aware of your posture and body mechanics to help minimize the strain on your

Don't Twist Spine

When sweeping, mulching or even potting, move your feet instead of twisting at the spine. If it is not possi ble to avoid twisting, tighten your stomach muscles in order to protect your back. When lifting or unloading, use your legs rather than your back to move those heavy pots and bags of fertilizer

Bend your knees, keep our back straight and hold he object as close as possible to your body in order to prevent any unnecessary strain on your back.

We salute...

VON celebrates 81st year

The Hastings, Northumberland, Prince Edward Victorian Order of Nurses (HNPE VON) will feature visit from Anette Hewitt. VON's National Chief Executive Officer at its Annual General Meeting at the Clarion Inn, Belleville on Thursday, June 10. "Health Care is undergoing many changes right not and VON is implementing changes which will enable us to continue to function as an effective player in health care delivery," said Alan Cavell, Executive Director of HNPE VON "Continuous improvement is the theme at VON."

The local branch celebrates 81 years of service to this area. The first meetings began in 1917 and the branch began visiting cli-ents in 1918. The minutes taken from the 1956 annual general meeting indicate that providing assistance to new mothers was a priority. The branch is currently working to develop a post partum program to provide coping skills to new moth-

OPP seize drugs

On Wednesday, May 12 at 2:30 p.m. the Ontario Provincial Police Drug Enforcement Branch along with officers from the Madoc, Quinte, and Napanee detachments executed a search warrant at a Maribank address. Approximately 600 marihuana plants and two hydroponic laboratories were seized from a dwelling which had been fully converted for the purpose of growing the plant. Wendy Stevens, 32, and Brian Peterson, 29, are charged with two counts of Productions of a Controlled Substance and two counts of Possession for the Purpose of Trafficking in a Controlled Substance. They are scheduled to appear in court in Belleville on July 22, 1999.

The marihuana has a street value in excess of $200,000. The hydroponic equipment seized has an estimated value of approximately $20,000.

"We are putting one of our signs on outer Welling-ton Street but I think it's and they are on the in-crease," he said. "It's a slap in our face to have a bunch time we drafted a letter up of break and enters and not be able to solve them. to (Centre Hastings Clerk) Doug Parks," said Brooks."

Sgt. Brooks also pointed out another project that has also "fallen through the cracks" lately is the Opera-tion Keepout. This project is designed to show homeowners whether their home is an easy target for burglars, Brooks said they haven't started the home inspections but are planning to in the near future.

"Basically," Brooks told the committee, "it's an eye opener to show people how their home is unsafe. There has been a lot of break and enters lately in Tyendinaga Township and Thurlow. We're getting hit and who knows where they're com-ing from so it's important for us to show people how to protect themselves. People shouldn't have to be ared in their own home. Brooks explained the police are aware of the break and enters and a study has shown most occur between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Tues-

This is a serious and sophisticated crime that affamilies acros Canada," Elliott stated "I want you to have a plan on how to handle a suspicious phone call. It's your phone, it's your house, it's your time. Don't be scared to hang up on them.

A normal scam is when a person receives a call and is told they've won something

Elbott asked if the people thought they would be able to hang up on $10,000? He again explained if you He again explained if you truly have won something, be if from Reader's Digest or Publishers Clearing House, etc..., you don't have to pay to claim that prize.

How do these telemarketers get your name and number?"

Elhott said two ways telefraud operators can get names is through fake mail-m contests and by ballots you may have filled out at a home-show, boat-show or other types of shows. He stressed not all mail-in contests and ballots are fake but some are and those operators will sell those names for three to twelve dollars

The emotional violence associated with tele-fraud is second to none

There's a lot of honest sales but make sure you get it in writing, take your time and make sure you're not rushing into anything," he explained.

If you suspect you may be a target, or have already sent funds, be assured not alone Phone Busters is the national deceptive telemarketing call centre, operated by the Ontario Provincial Police and supported by such part-

Some signals that a call may be from a tele-fraud operator are:

·It sounds too good to be true: You've won a big prize in a contest you don't recall entering or you're offered a once-in-a-lifetime invest-

·You must pay or you can't play: "You're a win-ner!" but you must agree to send money to the caller.

You must give them your private financial informa-tion: The callerasks for your confidential banking and/or credit card information.

·Will that be cash... o ash? Often criminal telemarketers ask you to send cash or a money order rather than cheque or credit card. Cash is untraceable and can't be cancelled

•The caller is more ex-cited than you are: The crooks want to get you excited about this "opportu-nity" so you won't be able to think clearly

•It's the manager call-ing: The person calling claims to be a government official, tax officer, bank-

other person in authority

·The stranger calling wants to become your best friend: The person call you by your first name and asks a lot of personal and lifestyle questions. Criminals love to find out that you're lonely and willing to talk

.It's a limited opportu nity and you're going to miss out: If you are pressured to make a big pur chase decision immediately it's probably not a legiti-

They sharpened their pencils and donned their thinking caps. They studied equations and practised theories. "They" were among the top twenty-five percent of all participants in the various Waterloo Math Contests held throughout the spring. Congratulations go out to Brooke Northey, Chloe Smith, Tyler Donnan, Ami Ritts and Kelly Gosse who wrote the Pascal Contest for grade nines. Matthew Reed was successful in the grade ten Cayley Contest as were Kate Hampel and Lisa White in the grade eleven Fermat Contest. Results from the grade twelve Eu-clid Contest are yet to be received. Well done CHSS!

Now that the student per formance and opening night of "Babes In Arms" has passed, be sure to get your tickets for the last two shows. Tickets for ten dollars are still available at Dollar Daze, Marmora In-surance, and the Food Company for the June 4th and June 5th productions.

A number of events are coming up within the month. As well as the coffeehouse on June 10th and the Athletic Awards Banquet on June 9th, graduation and prom are fast approaching.

Gamerama '99 is on June 2nd in the afternoon. The theme is Millennium Madness and will have teams dressed up in the hottest millennium fashions. Prepare to have fun and get wet! Students, however, should take a break from all the fun as the exam schedule for this semester is out. Students are to check with their homeroom teachers for their exam times or look at the sheets posted in each classroom.

A final reminder to parents, teachers and students that May 31st is a half-day for students (elementary and secondary) and the buses will be arriving at noon to take these pupils
